privacy, space &

sophistication

Inveroe Steadings is an exclusive gated development of eight luxury homes, securely accessed via electric gates, set amongst breath-taking open countryside between sought-after Balerno and Kirknewton, moments from Edinburgh's city limits. This boutique collection comprises two exceptional house types, offering substantial accommodation crafted to the most exquisite standards.

Each home is a massive and highly versatile five-bedroom detached house with soaring 2.7m ceilings, bespoke oak detailing, and expansive interiors shaped by a wealth of multi-aspect windows, capturing light and the open landscape beyond. Here, modern country living is elevated to its finest expression: it is a place where privacy, space, and sophistication come together in a peaceful setting of rare natural beauty.

A prestigious location defined by nature and city connections

Inveroe Steadings enjoys a privileged position between two of Edinburgh's most desirable commuter villages. Surrounded by rolling fields, mature woodland, and the dramatic backdrop of the Pentland Hills, it offers a rich lifestyle defined by tranquillity and open space. And with the capital's city centre only a short drive away, homeowners can enjoy the best of the city without the daily hustle and bustle.

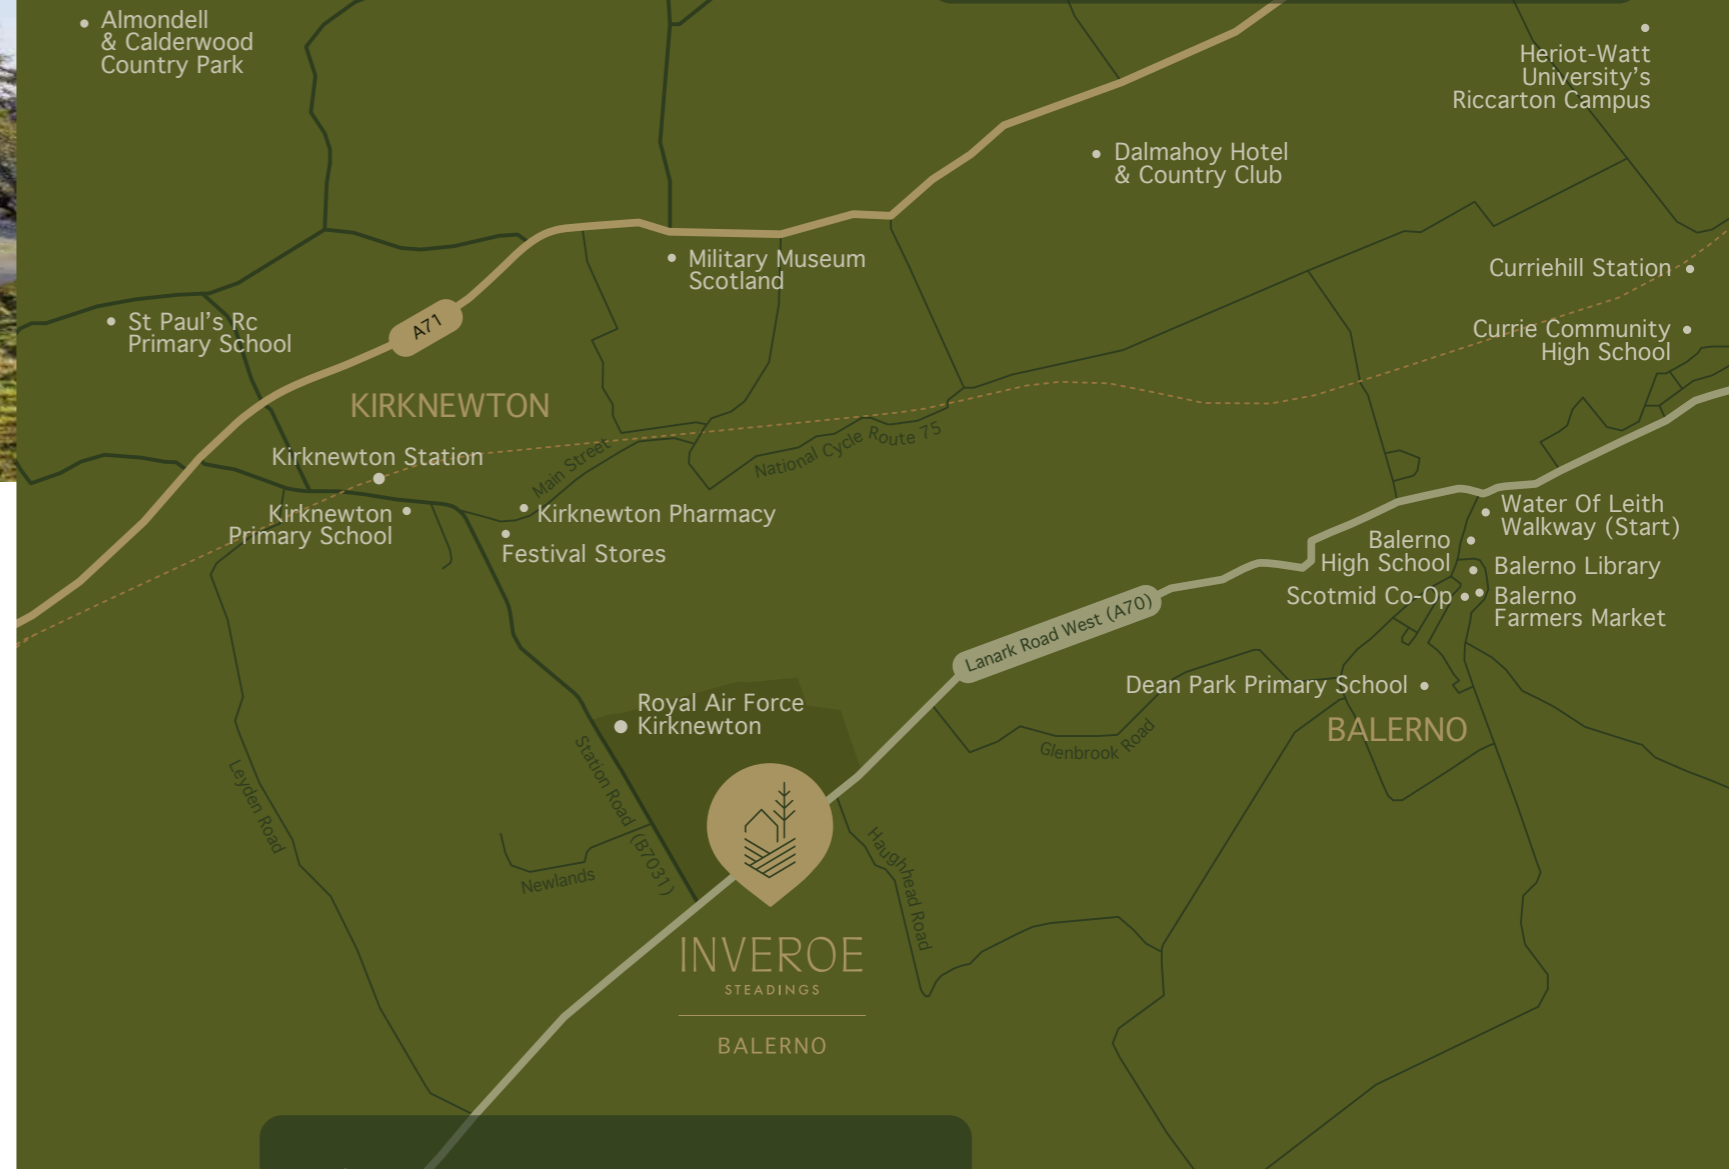

This is countryside living without compromise, providing families with all the benefits of a rural location while remaining effortlessly connected to the wider area and Scotland's major cities.

- Mature woodlands and open countryside on the doorstep
- Water of Leith runs alongside the site offering fantastic walks
- Brief drive from the Pentland Hills and Midlothian Snowsports Centre
- Swift access to Edinburgh city centre via the A71 and city bypass
- A five-minute drive to Kirknewton train station for travel across the central belt
- Easy commuting to Glasgow via the M8 (under 1 hour by car)
- Proximity to Edinburgh Airport and a private airfield

The charms of Kirknewton

A mere 5-minute drive from the development, Kirknewton offers a peaceful village atmosphere with everyday essentials close at hand. Its semi-rural charm and access to expansive green spaces create a natural extension of life at Inveroe Steadings.

★ HIGHLIGHTS OF KIRKNEWTON

- Convenience store, pharmacy, Post Office, and eateries
- Almondell and Calderwood Country Park with 220 acres of ancient woodland
- Scenic walks along the River Almond
- Golfing at the prestigious Dalmahoy Hotel & Country Club

★ HIGHLIGHTS OF BALERNO

- Mini supermarkets, cafés, traditional pubs, and a welcoming library
- The popular Balerno Farmers' Market with fresh local produce
- Excellent leisure options, such as the Balerno Tennis Club
- National Cycle Route 75
- The Water of Leith Walkway

The best of Balerno

Balerno is one of Edinburgh's most sought-after suburbs, prized for its village character and outstanding amenities. Just moments from Inveroe Steadings, it offers further outdoor opportunities with idyllic riverside paths, reservoirs, and woodland trails. This close connection allows residents to enjoy a way of living that feels both restorative and seamlessly in tune with its surroundings – the warmth of village living perfectly complementing the exclusivity of the development.

The Great Outdoors in the heart of the home

With the nearby Pentland Hills Regional Park stretching across 35 square miles, Inveroe Steadings is a haven for those who thrive in the open air. Whether you are exploring hillwalking routes, cycling quiet country lanes, fishing in tranquil reservoirs, skiing at the Midlothian Snowsports Centre, or horse-riding through the hills, family-friendly adventures are always close by.

For those who prefer a cosy or more relaxed pace, enjoy tranquil mornings with a glorious sunrise over open fields from the comforts of your own luxury home. In the evenings, feel the warmth of a log-burning stove while admiring a star-studded night sky. Enjoy a rhythm of life shaped by nature at Inveroe Steadings.

A place where futures take shape

Families at Inveroe Steadings benefit from excellent educational access, with top-performing primary and secondary schools at Balerno and further options in Kirknewton. Heriot-Watt University's Riccarton Campus is located nearby as well, and many of Edinburgh's prestigious independent schools are within swift driving distance. This enviable proximity ensures families have access to the best learning opportunities, from early years right through to higher education.

Expertly crafted for luxury, designed for space and light

Every home at Inveroe Steadings has been meticulously designed to celebrate space, craftsmanship, and natural light. Traditional rural forms are reinterpreted with a contemporary edge, using a refined palette of materials that complement the surrounding landscape.

Triple-aspect rooms, oversized glazing, and skylights ensure each expansive interior feels uplifting and deeply connected to the outdoors.

The high-end interior specification speaks for itself:

- Nobilia kitchens with Cosentino quartz worktops and a central island incorporating a breakfast bar
- Integrated Siemens studioLine appliances, including built-in coffee machine
- Herringbone flooring on the ground floor
- Australian wool loop-pile carpets upstairs
- Bespoke, handcrafted oak staircases
- Triple-glazed windows for greater warmth and efficiency
- Panasonic air source heat pumps for sustainable comfort

The homes at Inveroe Steadings are built to an exceptionally high standard and specification. Elegant, enduring, and unmistakably premium, these are coveted properties designed to impress at every turn.

Space for families to live, grow, & breathe

Complementing the extensive interior space, every home benefits from substantial private gardens, with generous patios and huge lawns enjoying uninterrupted countryside views.

Whether hosting summer soirees or watching the children play, the outdoor space at Inveroe Steadings is a defining feature of the development.

Every home includes:

- A double garage and a multi-car driveway
- Exceptionally large, landscaped gardens with outstanding privacy
- Open rural views that enhance the sense of scale and serenity
